

From the World of Crises to the World of Responsibilities

I would like to note that in order to continue existing, the world of tomorrow needs realities, and not chimaeras. We have been educated to live in a world of excessive image.

By excellence an image consuming civilization, we have got to the point where we no longer separate the once distinct imaginary and real spaces. We are now in a situation in which we consume images and think we consume realities. Some exclusively consume realities. It is essential to get back to REAL because it is our moral right to be there.
